

Faculty of Music, Silpakorn University

Faculty of Music, Silpakorn University Founded in 1998, the Faculty of Music was the initiative of Prof. Emeritus Dr. Trungjai Buranasomphop, former President of Silpakorn University. It was established in collaboration with Thailand's leading music scholars and performers as the 10th faculty of the university. Its first director was Prof. Dr. Manrat Srikaranonda, National Artist in 1992.

Faculty of Music, Silpakorn University stands as a leading institute in music, with the ability to provide best practice in music learning and study environment. Our multidisciplinary academic programs and industry-driven curriculum provide opportunities for students to examine music challenges from a variety of disciplinary perspectives and equip them with skills needed for a changing world.

We believe that music is a creative force for society. By preparing Silpakorn students to be the best in both musical and academic skills, they will eventually play an important role in improving and strengthening our society.
